Free Summer Concerts at LA County Library

17 Library Locations Will Host Music Events for All Ages, July - September

This summer, LA County Library's sometimes-quiet locations are filling with the sound of music! Beginning in July and running through September 28, LA County Library will feature 17 free concerts at select Library locations.

The concerts, sponsored by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, are part of the LA County Arts Commission's Free Concerts in Public Sites program, which provides support to organizations wishing to present accessible, quality music programming at community venues throughout LA County. The artists, part of the Arts Commission's Musicians Roster, represent both the diversity of the region and a broad range of genres, including Americana, Caribbean, rock, soul and more.

"Featuring free concerts at our libraries furthers our efforts to eliminate barriers to access by bringing concerts directly to Library customers who might not otherwise have the opportunity to experience these performances," said LA County Library Director, Skye Patrick. "Hosting concerts also helps to expand the definition of the Library—more than just a place to research and read, it can also be a community gathering place and an event hub. We hope events like these help our customers feel connected to their community and reveal the variety of services and events LA County Library has to offer."
