Skye Patrick, LA County Library Director

Our nation will celebrate an American hero, Martin Luther King, Jr. on Monday, January 21. Dr. King Jr. had a dream to make the world a better place. He led peaceful protests and marches, using his words, not violence or hate. His determination to serve all people, regardless of race, kept him going. Supervisor Barger and LA County Library will honor the life of civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr with a Storytime saluting his life and legacy.

“LA County Library is an organization that provides service and a safe space to all people. We have made it an organizational goal to break down barriers to ensure that everyone in Los Angeles County finds the Library a place they can visit to find resources, programs, a familiar face, and of course books! I’m eager to hear Supervisor Barger read I Have a Dream by Dr. King to kids and share his story with the Quartz Hill community,” said LA County Library Director Skye Patrick.
